2016 changed the City of Charlotte. Charlotteans are more civically involved than ever before. How did black public sector professionals respond to the civil unrest of 2016? Hear from public service professionals on the topics of civic leadership, community safety, and exploring the working world all from an African American lens.

Speakers:

Ashley Simmons, Strategic Story Telling Manager, City of Charlotte
Derrick Anderson, Executive Director, Race Matters for Juvenile Justice
Major Gerald Smith, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department
